B. PROJECT INFORMATION:

Please provide a Brief Project Summary Description:

Uneta Boutique is seeking funding to purchase a commercial-grade embroidery machine to meet growing customer demand for personalized and custom-stitched apparel and accessories. As more customers request embroidery services, this investment will allow the boutique to fulfill these needs in-house, improving turnaround times, product quality, and overall customer satisfaction.

The addition of this equipment will not only enhance the boutique's offerings but also support the local economy by keeping production and revenue within the community.

The boutique plans to partner with the community to offer custom embroidery services, helping to strengthen community connections and promote the Crete area.

Current Business Plan for Uneta Boutique1. Executive Summary

Uneta Boutique is a small, growing business specializing in custom heat-press apparel, including t-shirts, sweatshirts, hats, and accessories. We cater to local customers, small businesses, events, and online buyers who want unique, personalized products.

To meet increasing customer demand for premium customization, we plan to acquire an embroidery machine. This expansion will allow us to increase product offerings and serve new customers.

2. Business Overview

- Current Operations:
 - Heat-press custom apparel and accessories
 - Small-run custom orders for local events, schools, and businesses
 - Online, pop-up event, and brick & mortar apparel and accessories sales
- Expansion Plan:
 - Acquire a commercial embroidery machine (multi-needle preferred)
 - Offer embroidery services on hats, polos, jackets, towels, bags, and more
 - Create custom logo embroidery for small businesses, sports teams, and special events

3. Market Analysis

- Target Market:
 - Existing customers who want to expand their custom needs
 - Small businesses needing branded workwear or promotional items
 - Sports teams and schools needing embroidered uniforms and spiritwear
 - Gift buyers looking for personalized, high-end embroidered items
 - Market Trends:
 - Strong demand for personalization and long-lasting products
 - Local businesses often prefer local vendors over online mass-producers for custom work
 - Competitive Advantage:
 - Already established customer base
 - Fast turnaround and local service
 - Ability to combine heat press and embroidery for unique, multi-texture designs

4. Products and Services

- Heat-press custom apparel and accessories
- Embroidery on apparel: hats, polos, jackets, uniforms
- Custom monograms on towels, bags, robes, etc.
- Logo digitization services (prepare client logos for embroidery)
- Combined heat press + embroidery designs (unique layered customization)

5. Marketing and Sales Plan

- Announce new embroidery services via social media, email lists, and in-store signage
 - Offer special launch promotions or discounted embroidery on first orders
 - Develop sample products to showcase embroidery quality in-store and online
 - Reach out directly to small businesses, schools, and organizations for custom embroidery
 - Update website and shop listings to include embroidery options

6. Operations Plan

- Purchase embroidery machine (~$12,500)
 - Train on machine operation and embroidery software
 - Integrate embroidery production into current workspace; adjust workflow for combined services
 - Manage supply chain for embroidery materials (threads, stabilizers, hoops, etc.)

7. Financial Plan

- Startup Costs for Expansion:
 - Embroidery machine: $12,000
 - Software/digitization programs: should be included
 - Supplies (thread, backing, hoops, etc.): $500 for extra hoop that's needed
- Funding Needs:
 - Seeking grant for $12,500 to cover machine

8. Goals and Milestones

- Month 1–2: Purchase machine, complete training, launch embroidery service
 - Month 3–6: Complete 25+ embroidery orders, build portfolio of custom samples
 - Month 6–12: Establish 5–10 repeat business clients for embroidered goods
 - 1–2 years: Consider hiring part-time help if demand grows

9. Risks and Mitigation

- Learning curve: Invest in training and practice before offering to customers
- Customer demand uncertainty: Start with small inventory investment, use test runs and samples to gauge interest
- Financial strain: Use equipment financing or small loan to reduce upfront cash outlay
